Old Business

Policies & Procedures – new additions and updates

We continue to work on the policies that need to be added to the library collection of policies. The small groups from previous meetings can be reviewed and adopted as we move forward. There are some adjustments that may need made to current policies to just incorporate the new policies as part of existing policies. We also may have a few other policies to add as the process goes along and new gaps are discovered. One such policy has come from the audit process as Denise Keene said we need to add a separate Fixed Asset Policy, which determines what and how major assets depreciate, or incorporate it as part of the current Surplus Policy, which would make it more an overall Inventory Policy. I have examples from other libraries that we can use in full or adapt to fit what we need.

Surplus Property

The items have been collected by all those who submitted bids, and one bidder decided to pay set price to add more to original bid. Currently, the library has made $50 of the sale of these items after subtracting the $100 for placing bid in the Bracken County News for 2 weeks. The ad in the newspaper was costly, but the 2 weeks provided more than enough notice to the public about the available items. As the end of February draws close, I may approach a few places that might be able to use the shelving before calling for scrap metal pick up. I want to see it go to good use rather than be destroyed. The other items do not have the long-term usage that the shelving does. Next month will give a better indication where all this stands.

MakerSpace & Future Plans

I have tied both these items from last meeting since the MakerSpace is tied deeply into the future plans right now. I continue to build resources for the Maker Space area, including a few toys that have made public appearances at the library and at community meetings. I am trying to build interest in as many ways as possible. One instance was demonstrating the new SpheroMini to the Interagency Council meeting, and another was having someone take a Virtual Reality rollercoaster ride in the library a couple weeks ago.

As for the future plans via Strategic Plan, I have contacted a few consultants about submitting bids. This will be well under the state and our policy set threshold for costs requiring at least three bids, but I should have two bids for the board to review. After reports from multiple other library directors, I chose not to contact the previous consultant each questioned quality/value, usefulness/depth, and/or general effort of the team. I see this as a process that needs to be the best possible so the library can continue moving forward.

New Business

Audit

The audit process was a first for me, and added to the process is that 2 years were being audited. Additional factors include a construction process, a change in bookkeepers, and a change in leadership since the previous audit. Overall, Denise Keene indicated that there were not any major issues, but she did have some key concerns with the financial procedures. Denise Keene is compiling a report for the board that could be ready for the meeting, but there are some issues that I have already begun to address. These issues are:

- Reconciliation of the account monthly by at least 1 person
- Better controls and policies regarding Fixed Assets
- Signatures on Employee Time Sheets by Employee and Supervisor
- Assuring proper records on employees I-9, W-4, etc.

I assume responsibility for my part in these issues and admit I just accepted some of these were in proper order. I will be interested to see the final report from both years and all recommendations on what needs to be done going forward.

Inventory

Created 16 Nov 2004 Revised 16 Jan 2007 Reviewed 16 Jan 2019

In order to comply with generally accepted accounting principles, the library will maintain an inventory of physical assets.

Types of items to be inventoried

The library will maintain an inventory for the following type(s) of items:

- Land;
- Land improvement;
- Buildings and other structures;
- Furniture;
- Shelving;
- Computer and peripherals;
- Vehicles.

Parameters for inclusion

Furniture, shelving, computers, computer peripherals, and vehicles will be included for:

- Individual units whose initial purchase price is greater than $750;
- Groups of identical units whose individual purchase price is greater than

$50 when the total purchase price for all units is greater than $1000;

• Other equipment or furnishings may be included at the discretion of the Director.

Valuation

Wherever possible, the purchase price of an item will be used to assess its value.

For items for which no cost information is available, the estimated fair market value for the item at the date of acquisition will be used.

When an item is donated to the library, an estimated fair market value based on the date of donation will be used.

Depreciation

A depreciation schedule for furnishings and equipment will be determined by the Director and approved by the Library Board. This schedule will be used to determine the depreciated value of items that are inventoried:

- Land. Land will not depreciate. The initial sale cost will be maintained as the land's value;
- Buildings. Buildings will depreciate on a 39 year cycle;
- Shelving. All shelving will depreciate on a 15 year cycle;
- Furniture. Furnishings will depreciate on a 7 year cycle;
- Vehicles. Vehicles will depreciate on 5 year cycle;
- Computers and peripherals. Computers and peripherals will depreciate on a 4 year cycle.

Collection

The library's circulating materials (excluding electronic materials) will be depreciated on a five year cycle. The library recognizes that some materials may have a lasting value and will use materials as long as need is deemed sufficient.

FIXED ASSET MANAGEMENT POLICY

Boone County Public Library District administers and reports all financial activity in accordance with Kentucky statutes and regulations, best business practices, and generally accepted accounting principles. The Governmental Accounting Standards Board requires fixed asset reporting in order for a governmental entity to be in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles.

Definition

A fixed asset is defined as a financial resource meeting all of the following criteria:

- 1 It is tangible in nature.
- 2 It has an extended useful life, which the district may identify as one year, two years or longer.
- 3 It has a value greater than the capitalization threshold established by the Board of Trustees or is considered to be an asset for which control (accountability) is desirable.

Capitalization and depreciation

Capital assets and infrastructure are capitalized and depreciated as outlined in the capitalization threshold table for the District.

Fixed assets will be capitalized when the useful life is greater than one year and the acquisition cost meets the capitalization threshold. Assets will be depreciated on the straight-line basis over their estimated useful lives.

| FIXED ASSET | CAPITALIZATIO N THRESHOLD | DEPRECIATION SCHEDULE | TRACKING/INVENTORY THRESHOLD |
|-------------------------------|------------------------------|-----------------------|------------------------------|
| Land | $1 | Capitalize only | $1 |
| Land Improvements | $12,500 | 25 years | $1 |
| Buildings | $25,000 | 50 years | $1 |
| Building Improvements | $25,000 | 25 years | $1 |
| Construction in progress | $1 | Capitalize only | $1 |
| Furniture, fixtures, shelving | $2,500 | 15 years | $500 |
| Computers, equipment | $1,000 | 5 years | $250 |
| Software | $10,000 | 5 years | $1000 |

| Vehicles | $2,500 | 5 years | $500 |
|------------------------|---------|---------|-------|
| Book collection | $1 | 7 years | $1 |
| Audiovisual collection | $1 | 3 years | $1 |

Valuing and reporting fixed assets

Purchased or constructed capital assets and infrastructure are reported at acquisition or construction cost or estimated historical cost. Cost is defined as the cash price, or its equivalent, plus all other costs necessary to place the asset in its intended location and condition for use. Donated capital assets are recorded at their estimated fair value at the date of donation.

Land

Land acquired by purchase is valued at the price of the land, costs incurred in its acquisition including legal and other fees, and costs necessary to prepare the land for its intended use including demolition of existing buildings and utility relocation.

Land is considered to have an unlimited life and is not depreciated.

Land improvements

Land improvements are costs to prepare land for its intended use. These include roads, sidewalks, paving, fences, curbs, driveways, landscaping, and parking lots. The valuation method for land improvements is the same as that for building construction.

Buildings

When buildings are constructed, valuation includes all direct costs such as labor, material, and professional services to construct the building, together with insurance, interest, and other costs incurred during the period of construction to ready the building for its intended use. Generally, the library contracts to have its buildings constructed. All costs incurred, from excavation to completion of the buildings, are considered part of the building cost.

Buildings acquired by purchase or gift are valued at the amount paid in the case of purchase, or, in the case of gifts, by appraisals performed by outside experts or by values established by courts for assets received from the estate of a donor.

Building improvements

The valuation method for building improvements is the same as that for building construction. Building improvements are significant alterations or structural changes that a) meet the capitalization threshold and b) meet one or more of the following conditions:

- Extends the useful life of the building beyond what was originally scheduled.
- · Increases the value of the building.
- Expands the total square footage of the building.

Replacement or restoration to original utility level does not constitute an improvement.

Construction in progress

Construction projects are considered construction in progress until they are placed in use or the construction has been certified as substantially complete. The project is then removed from construction in progress and capitalized as buildings or other. Depreciation is not applicable for this category since the asset is not in service.

Movable equipment

Movable equipment includes equipment, furniture, fixtures, shelving, and vehicles. The valuation of movable equipment is based on individual unit cost. Cost includes the purchase price, freight and handling charges, insurance while in transit, and assembling and installation costs.

Items which meet the capitalization threshold are reported, capitalized and depreciated individually.

Items which (a) are part of a larger whole and not individually identifiable; (b) may or may not have a unit cost meeting the threshold level for capitalized assets but the practice is to purchase in groups and capitalize the total group cost; and, (c) will be maintained together or in the same general area, may be reported, capitalized, and depreciated as a group.

Movable equipment that does not fall into either capital category above is considered an expense. However, if it meets the unit cost threshold for Tracking/Inventory, it is recorded and tracked in the Equipment Inventory

Computers and software

The valuation of computers and software is based on unit cost. When initially purchasing a computer system, the following items will be considered as one unit: central processing unit [CPU], cables, keyboard, monitor, operating system software, and other peripheral devices purchased as an integral part of the system.

Printers, text scanners, and other similar devices for office systems are typically not considered an integral part of the system. The cost of an accessory purchased separately – after the system has been received and made operable – should not be added to the value of the system.

Software acquired separately from a computer system costing $10,000 or more per unit and having a useful life of more than one year will be capitalized.

Library materials

Library materials are valued at the invoiced purchase price. Capitalized library holdings include books, audiovisual materials, and microforms. Magazines and newspapers are not capitalized.

The cost of books, audiovisual materials and the related accumulated depreciation will be removed from the financial records in the fiscal year following the year the items become fully depreciated, but not less than eight years for books and four years for audiovisual materials. Microforms, which are typically acquired to preserve their content indefinitely, have a service potential that is considered to be unlimited. Therefore, microforms are not depreciated.

All library materials are inventoried in the library database [catalog].

Changes to fixed assets

Improvements and Replacements

An improvement is the substitution of a better asset for the one currently used, while a replacement is the substitution of a similar asset for the one currently used. The cost of improvements and replacements is capitalized if it meets the appropriate capitalization threshold and at least one of the following criteria:

- The useful life of the asset is extended.
- The quantity of services provided by the asset is increased.
- The quality of services provided by the asset is enhanced.

If the expenditure maintains the existing level of service, it is expensed as a repair. Typically, the total replacement of a fixture or component part due to premature failure is considered a repair. However, it may be capitalized if it meets the criteria above.

To capitalize an expenditure as an improvement or replacement, record the new asset being acquired and remove the old asset from the fixed asset records.

Repairs

Repairs are activities performed to obtain the expected service life of an asset. Examples include repair to an existing HVAC system, paint, and roof repair. The cost of repairs is expensed.

A major repair may be capitalized as an improvement or replacement if it meets the criteria above.

Disposal of fixed assets

The Board may sell or otherwise dispose of any personal property which is not needed or has become unsuitable for public use.

Surplus or excess personal property as described in this section may be transferred, with or without compensation, to another governmental agency; or it may be sold at public auction or by sealed bids. In the event that no bids are received for the property, either at public auction or by sealed bid, it may be disposed of, consistent with the public interest, in any manner deemed appropriate by the Board. In all instances, a written description of the property, the method of disposal, and the amount of compensation, if any, shall be made.

Any compensation resulting from the disposal of surplus or excess personal property shall be transferred to the library's general fund.

The book value of land, land improvements, buildings, movable equipment, computers and software, and library materials will be removed from the general ledger when disposed of or sold.

 he or she does not disturb other persons in the library or damage library property.
- The Library has the right to restrict visitors from entering the Library with large bundles, carts, bicycles, or similar items.

Anyone who refuses to leave the Library at the request of a staff member is guilty of criminal trespass and is subject to arrest and prosecution.

The Library may take appropriate legal measures to enforce these behaviors or to prevent access to individuals who refuse to comply.

Problem Patrons

In dealing with the public, it is not usual to encounter difficult customers. To the extent that these customers exhibit criminal activity, whether felony or misdemeanor, the library is responsible for taking appropriate action, such as call the police. It is the responsibility of the library to ensure a safe place for the use of its customers and work of its staff.

Staff is urged to recognize the difference between true problem customers and the merely pesky customer. A certain degree of acceptance must be given to those unpleasant customers who are not breaking the law by their behavior but are disagreeable in manner and/or actions. Staff is not expected to allow them to interrupt their work, but is expected to treat them fairly.
